To get a good job you must be able to read and use some math. You'll want a driver's license so you can get around. You'll need to fill out job applications and know how to pay your taxes. Today, the jobs you want require a high school diploma or GED.

Cass will help you get the education skills you need to be successful, and you can get your GED as well. Here you can start at your level and enjoy working at your pace. Some Cass graduates have gone right into college.

Personal attention and computer assisted learning are an important part of your education program at CASS.

Group Living

Once you get your GED and learn a trade, you'll be working with people on the job. You'll need to get along with a lot of different people.

At Cass you will live in a 56 student dorm, eat with a hundred fellow diners, cooperate to get your work done, and receive recognition. At work and in living, you are part of a team which builds your success.

Cass has residential advisors in each dorm and a counseling program, available at all times. From the day you arrive, you are paired with a person ready to help.

Whether learning to weld or reading a good book you'll be training for your future at CASS.

Teamwork extends from the classroom to the court.

ecreation

Cass has a gymnasium, weight room, pool tables, board games, a TV room, and TV in the dorms. There is also an dorm to the track at CASS.

Education, social skills and job training will prepare you for a good future.

enefits

As a student at Cass, your benefits are:

- A living allowance of $40 to $80 per month
- Cash bonuses for above-satisfactory performance
- A clothing allowance
- Medical and dental care
- Education
- Union and non-union affiliated trades
- Organized recreation
- Job placement assistance
- On-the-job training
- A readjustment allowance (savings account) for graduates
- Cash bonuses for obtaining GED, completing trade, job placement and job training match.

At Cass you can make friends, learn job skills, and get an education.

Then, our job placement staff will help you get started earning more money and making a good life for yourself.
